

"Finally, I can stop living in terror that my daughter will bust her head open on our old-fashioned bathroom faucet! And the waterfall effect is built-in entertainment." —AMY

Flo faucet attachment: $15

A few of our favorite things

We like stuff. A lot. But every month we run across a few things that we feel like we just can't believe we ever survived without. This is that stuff.

"When this came in I dashed from the fashion closet to show the entire office this cute little outfit." —ERIN

Sailor Pants and Tank: Hip Chicks, $68 and Matching Bambina Jacket: Hip Chicks, $44

"These little slip-on shoes are adorable and perfect for little feet. They're soft, flexible, and come in so many varieties that it's impossible to pick just one pair! From now on, all my mom-to-be friends will find a pair in their gift bag." —LACEY

Robeez Monkey: $26

"This pink egg-shaped sponge makes it a breeze to apply foundation evenly. Its soft curves help hit tricky spots (like around the nose) and give smooth coverage." —ERIN

Beauty Blender: $20

"I love the idea that you can bond with and relax your baby just by wearing this gorgeous silver chime." —JENN

Big Heart Chime: Baby Chime, $41

"I'm absolutely obsessed with the warm color and modern style of this diaper bag! It's so cute you could even use it as a regular handbag once baby's out of diapers." —JENN

Caryn Bag in Spice: Mia Bossi, $360

"I swear, it's not just the retro modern vibe of this stroller that has me crushing on it year after year—I also love the way it keeps your baby's face closer to yours." —AMY

Xplory stroller: Stokke, $720
